COTTON MARKETS.

New York, May 25.—Except for activity at the expense of prices in the war stocks, the trading and price fluctuations in the stock market were uninteresting today, reflecting a general disposition on the part of the speculative public to wait for the text of the German note before making new commitments.

Many brokers also advised their customers along these lines with the result that the commission house bustness was quiet. The opening was quiet and without important changes in quotations.

Chicago, May 25.—James A. In Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia and other big cities similar eagerness to join the colors is reported.

Such crowds of patriotic Italians flocked to the office of Consul General G. Fara Forni today, despite the heavy rain, that a detail of police had to be called to pre-vent a blockade of the street. In a long line they were admitted to the office of the consul general, who later declared that in the absence of instructions from his government regarding reservists he could do nothing in the way of forward ing his compatriots to the battle line. Care is being taken by the Italian offi-cials not to violate in any way the neu-trality laws of the United States.
